Master of the Burnout . . .

At the July 8th Saturday Night Special Cruise-In in Brooksville, Marty Hause set the pace and his beautiful Dodge Charger looked to be hard to beat. Fords, Chevys, Pontiacs, tire smoke, tears, cheers, motor revving hot rods, and then Roger "The Quick" King set the super nice Plymouth Barracuda into a burnout that looked like what an old professional could do. But trying to ruin "The Quick" King's night was Miss Andrea Sergeant from wild Oakland, KY in Jimmy Moore's souped up Trans Am. She had a close 1st place but her right foot was too heavy and got disqualified. After the smoke cleared "The Quick" King was determined Master of the Burnout and won the trophy donated by Ottie Woods. Ottie posed for the picture with Roger "The Quick" King and Roger's grandchildren, Carter and Kyndal Dotson, and friend, Jarrod Woods.

Two Minutes WITH THE BIBLE

by Cornelius R. Stam, Founder
Berean Bible Society
PO Box 756 Germantown, WI 53022

FAITH, HOPE AND LOVE by Cornelius R. Stam

"And now abideth faith, hope, love, these three, but the greatest of these is love" (I Cor. 13:13).

St. Paul had been discussing, in I Cor. 13, some of the miraculous signs that were to vanish away as God's revelation became complete. But faith, hope and love, he declared, would abide as a triune evidence of true Christianity.

These three are all we need in the present "dispensation of the grace of God." Any church where faith, hope and love are found in abundant measure is a "full" church. It may have but a few members, but what greater blessing could it wish for than faith, hope and love in its fellowship?

Faith, hope and love are a trinity often referred to in St. Paul's epistles. Each is of basic importance in its way, and none can exist without the other two.

Faith is of primary importance. "Without faith it is impossible to please [God]" (Heb 11:6), and how can there be hope and love without faith?

Hope holds the central place among the three. Hope in the Bible is more than a wish; it is the opposite of despair, an eager anticipation of blessings to come. Hope is the Christian's experience, his living with eternity's glory in view.

Love is the crowning virtue of the three; it is the fruit of faith and hope, and is greatest in the sense that it is "the bond of perfectness." Moreover, love is eternal. Some day, for every true believer, "faith will vanish into sight; hope be emptied in delight" and love will reign supreme.

May God help us, in our fellowship with each other, to evidence a full measure of faith, hope and love.

DR. C. ARTHUR INSKO November 22, 1910 - June 28, 2012

C. Arthur Insko, Th.D., Retired Professor of Christian Ethics passed away June 28, 2012 at the age of 101. He was predeceased in February 9, 2000 by his wife of 68 years, the former Elizabeth Alene Matthews. Dr. Insko, Arthur, was born November 22, 1910 on a farm near Germantown, Kentucky. His Father, Leslie Insko, and Mother, Mary Elizabeth (also an Insko) were both descended from ancestors who left the Delaware Valley to come down the Ohio River into northern Kentucky prior to the American Revolution. Other ancestors included the brother of Simon Kenton, an early pioneer and explorer who arrived in Kentucky before Daniel Boone, and Frederick Kurtz, who left Wittenburg, Germany to escape conscription in Bismarck's army.

Despite the fact that neither of his parents nor his older brother, Andrew Gordon, had finished high school, Arthur's Father supported his son's desire for an education and provided him with a horse and buggy to get to a high school in Germantown where he graduated valedictorian. As he drove along the road to Germantown, school children would frequently attempt to hitch a ride so that by the time he got to town there would be kids hanging all over the buggy.

Arthur subsequently graduated from Cumberland College, Georgetown College, and obtained an MA in English from the University of Kentucky. During these years he taught all nine grades in a one-room school, married Elizabeth (daughter of the local Baptist minister), was principal of the high school in Augusta, Kentucky, and taught English in the high school in Fort Thomas, Kentucky. Following his ordination as a Baptist minister he obtained BD, Th.M., and Th.D. degrees from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Kentucky. After graduation his reluctance to leave Kentucky led him to turn down several offers to join the faculty at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary in Berkeley, California. In 1950 he finally accepted the position and moved the family to Berkeley and then to Tiburon when the seminary moved across the San Francisco Bay to Mill Valley. At Golden Gate Seminary he had a distinguished career as a Professor of Christian Ethics. During the academic year 1961-62 he spent a sabbatical leave at Union theological Seminary in New York City.

During the 25 plus years in California the family made annual, summer trips to Kentucky and South Carolina to maintain connections with family. In the early years these trips were particularly challenging because they were made without the benefit of interstate highways or air-conditioned cars.

After retirement Arthur and Elizabeth moved to South Carolina where he was a visiting pastor and interim pastor in various Baptist churches. He served twice as a visiting professor at Midwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Kansas City, Missouri, and once at Golden Gate Baptist Seminary. Arthur and Elizabeth subsequently moved to Durham and Chapel Hill North Carolina where he taught the adult Sunday school class at University Baptist Church-a class that following his "retirement" was named after him. On his 100th birthday he was made a Kentucky Colonel. Arthur, Dr. Insko, possessed an abundance of energy and an outgoing personality, loved books and learning, but always remained attached to farm life and his Old Kentucky Home.

Dr. Insko is survived by his son, Chester A. Insko, Jr. a professor in the Department of Psychology at the University of North Carolina, Chester's wife Verla Clemens Insko, a North Carolina state legislator, two grandsons and three great-grandchildren. Grandson Erik Kenton Insko is a radiologist in Charlotte and his wife Stephanie Ruth Vlcek Insko is a Mercedes Benz fleet manager in Charlotte. Their two children are Lauren Elizabeth, 10, and Nathaniel Kenton, 9. Grandson Kurt Brian Insko is a law enforcement officer in Raleigh and his wife, Gina Rigsbee Insko, is a legislative assistant in Raleigh. They have one son, Thomas Wayne Insko, 14.

Also surviving are Arthur's younger sister Mildred King, a retired grammar school principal, her husband, Denver King, a retired U.S. postman, their daughter Nancy Elizabeth Markwell and her husband, Warren Markwell, all of Maysville, Kentucky, and the Markwell's two children and four grandchildren.

The funeral service was held on Saturday, July 7 at 2 p.m. at the Palmer Funeral Home, Germantown, KY with burial following in the family plot at the Maple Grove Cemetery in Germantown, KY. The funeral was preceded by visitation beginning at 1 p.m. A memorial service will be held at the University Baptist Church in Chapel Hill, NC - date to be announced.

Memorial contributions may be made to a charity of your choice.

Last week Micha Pennington accepted Jesus as his Lord and Savior. Bro. Jackie baptized him following the worship service. Georgia Lou Thompson and Rita Clos came forward moving their membership. May God bless each of you as you let your light shine for Him.

At SonRise National Park your kids will be pointed right to Jesus! Children will have a great time singing songs, watching skits, creating crafts, and playing games. But most important, they'll discover Jesus provides what they truly need in every challenge of life. "We're looking forward to sharing this exciting event with the children and families in our neighborhood. We hope they will all join us at SonRise National Park."

by Les Grooms, pastor Augusta Presbyterian

We had forty-nine in church Sunday morning. There are still some that are on vacation or attending family reunions. Earl Bush was the worship leader. Susie Hargett was the song leader. Shelby England had children's church. Kay Grooms did the power point.

We had session meeting before church when we discussed and made decisions concerning the future of the church.

Next Sunday morning after church, I am baptizing Mackenzie in the public swimming pool.

Edythe Ware has been in the hospital this past week. She was taken to Meadowview on Monday and was dismissed Sunday morning.

The honeymooning couple, Josh & Jill White, are back from their honeymoon in Antigua and were in a attendance Sunday. Both are back to work and beginning their life together. I am so thankful that serving Jesus Christ is part of their lives together.

The women of the church will be meeting Monday night. Wednesday we will be having our monthly Bread Basket Meal. This is always a great social occasion. The food is great also.

V.B.S. will start Sunday night, July 15 and continue until Thursday night. Children of the community are welcome and encouraged to attend.

Old time camp meeting will start at Ruggles Camp Ground Thurs., July 19 and continue until July 29. This is something that we have been attending for many years and we thoroughly enjoy the spiritually uplifting time.

The purchaser shall be required to execute a bond, with good and sufficient surety, bearing interest at the rate of 12% per annum from the date which is thirty (30) days following the date of sale, until paid, and payable to the Master Commissioner.

The purchaser shall have the privilege of paying all or any part of the purchase price or paying said bond before maturity by paying the balance of the principal together with all accrued interest thereon. If the total purchase price is not paid in cash, the required deposit shall be applied to any expenses incurred by a default of the purchaser. Provided, however, in the event a party of this action is the successful bidder at the sale of the property by the Master Commissioner, then the said party, upon payment of the court costs and sale expenses and any liens or judgments that have been given priority herein over the lien and judgment of said successful bidder/party, shall have its bid credited against its judgment herein.

If the purchaser(s) fails to comply with the terms of the sale then, in such event, the Master Commissioner shall immediately resell the property upon the same terms and conditions as set forth herein, excepting only any necessary changes in the time and date of sale. Possession of the property herein sold shall be given to the purchaser after payment in full of the purchase price and confirmation of the sale by the Bracken Circuit Court. Pursuant to the Judgment herein, the purchaser shall be required to assume and pay all ad valorem property taxes assessed against the property for 2012 and all subsequent years thereafter. The title interest of the parties to the lawsuit will be conveyed without warranty by the Master Commissioner to the purchaser and the purchaser shall receive a deed to property upon payment of the purchase price in full (and costs of sale, if applicable) and after confirmation of the sale by Bracken Circuit Court, subject to any equity of redemption if the property does not sell for two-thirds of its appraised value.

Classics In Fair Free
Concert Line-up

Each year, thousands of fans fill Cardinal Stadium during the Kentucky State Fair to relive their glory days with classic hits and to experience new and upcoming acts on the verge of super-stardom. This year's free concert line-up is no exception. Fans can witness the next big thing with artists such as Jake Owen and Hot Chelle Rae and break out their 80's Aqua-net with Cinderella. Check out this year's line-up to find some old and new favorites.

- Thurs., Aug. 16 – Cinderella with Sebastian Bach
  - Fri., Aug. 17 – Keith Sweat with Robbie Bartlett
  - Sat., Aug. 18 – Hot Chelle Rae with Twenty One Pilots
  - Sun., Aug. 19 – Oak Ridge Boys with Jimmy Fortune
  - Mon., Aug. 20 – Newsboys with Sanctus Real
  - Tues., Aug. 21 – Ronnie Milsap with BJ Thomas
  - Wed., Aug. 22 – Jake Owen with Florida Georgia Line
  - Thurs., Aug. 23 – Happy Together Tour with Turtles, Grass Roots, Gary Puckett, Buckingham and Micky Dolenz
  - Fri., Aug. 24 – Young the Giant
  - Sat., Aug. 25 - Justin Moore with Colt Ford
- Bringing an alternative twist to the group is the band Young the Giant. This indie rock group released their self titled debut album in 2010. Their first two singles, "My Body" and "Cough Syrup", reached the top five U.S. Alternative Song chart. Pop culture blog 411mania said, "Their influences are worn on their sleeves throughout, and the result is a sound that's somewhat like a middle ground between Coldplay and latter-day Kings of Leon." The group is performing at Bonnaroo Music and Arts Festival later this month.

Along with Young the Giant, pop rock band Hot Chelle Rae is bringing their fireball like show to the Fair. They recently opened for Taylor Swift's "Speak Now" tour and gained widespread attention for their 2011 double platinum single, "Tonight Tonight" when it crashed onto the Top 10 on Billboard Hot 100 Chart.

Country music star Justin Moore can be noted for hits such as, "If Heaven Wasn't So Far Away," "How I Got to Be This Way" and "Small Town USA." Justin became the only new Country artist to earn No. 1 single status (for his hometown anthem "Small Town USA"). The success of "Small Town USA" made the Arkansas native the first solo artist to have a song from his/her debut album go to No.1 since Taylor Swift's "Our Song" in December 2007.

Jake Owen made a name for himself in the country music scene by touring with Kenny Chesney and Brad Paisley. Owen will bring his deep vocals and strong energy to the Fair. Owen is also performing at the CMA Music Festival in Nashville this July.

Cinderella will transport fans back to the hair band days with their glam metal and blue-rock sounds. They have sold over 20 million albums world-wide and are stopping off at the Kentucky State Fair in their 26th year of touring.

All shows will begin at 8 p.m. and gates will open at approximately 6:30 p.m. For a complete listing of events and attractions at the Fair, visit kystatefair.org. For additional information, follow us on Twitter and like us on Facebook.

150th Anniversary Civil War Exhibit Coming To John P. Parker Museum

Exhibit to Be on Display from July 13 to August 5

The Civil War began 150 years ago in April 1861, and Ohio was deeply involved, providing General Ulysses S. Grant and many other Union officers as well as more than 300,000 Union troops to the war effort. Brown County families and those from surrounding counties in both Ohio and Kentucky have the opportunity to learn more about Ohio's profound impact on the war in the coming months. John P. Parker Historical Society is proud to announce they will be hosting the Ohio Historical Society's new traveling exhibit, Ohio & the Civil War 150 Years Later to commemorate the anniversary of the Civil War.

The exhibit will be on display at the John P. Parker Museum from July 13 to August 5, 2012. The John P. Parker Museum will be open during the hours of 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Fridays, Saturdays, and from 12 to 5 p.m. on Sundays. In addition to the Civil War display, visitors will be able to view the moving paintings and displays which depict John P. Parker and his days of conducting slaves to freedom in the North. The Historical Society will also showcase local Civil War artifacts from collections of area residents.

To honor the exhibit and those who worked tirelessly to acquire it, the John P. Parker Historical Society will have an opening event on Sunday, July 15, from 2 to 4 p.m. light refreshments will be offered.

The Ohio Historical Society, in partnership with the Ohio Humanities Council and American Electric Power, sponsored development of Ohio & the CMI War: 150 Years Later, a special panel exhibit produced for the 150th commemoration of the Civil War. The traveling exhibit impacted local communities and the course of the war. Three themes - DEMOCRACY, TRANSFORMATIONS, and MEMORY - are used to reveal Civil War stories that impacted Ohio in the 19th century to the pres-

Middle age dilemma: caring for your kids, your parents and yourself

Submitted by: Shannon Smith, CEA for Family and Consumer Sciences

Many middle-aged adults are finding themselves caring and supporting two generations- their children and their aging parents. While caregiving can be very rewarding, it often can bring additional emotional, physical and financial stresses for caregivers as they try to balance a career, parenting and elder care.

According to the Family Caregiver Alliance, 520,000 Kentucky informal caregivers provide 570 million hours of care each year. The estimated value of this care is worth more than $5.4 billion. This support is most often geared toward seniors by middle-aged daughters, who are balancing a full-time job on top of their other daily responsibilities.

Here are a few tips for handling the physical and emotional stresses related to caregiving:

- Recognize how you handle stress and what is stressing you. Put your stressors into perspective and make time for what is really important.
- Remember you also need to take care of yourself.
- Take physical and emotional breaks from caregiving, such as going for a walk or reading a book.
- Ask for help, including professional support.
- Remember that the example you set by handling your stress is a model for the rest of your family.

Reducing financial stress requires honesty between all parties involved in the caregiving process (your parents, your children and yourself). You should analyze your financial situation and be honest with your parents about how much financial support you can provide to them now

606-735-9960

Howdy Folks! Whew! Last week was certainly hot, but thankfully, this week is predicted to be more comfortable and within the 'normal' range! It's beginning to get a little scary though, as we are noticing more and more that we have lived through many of the record highs and lows that the weathermen like to give us each day! We are not complaining, just trying to remember those days, which the remembering part sometimes proves to be as much of a challenge as the weather itself! We have lived long enough to know that this too will pass and the cold winds will once again blow, but til then, we pray everyone stays cool, hydrated and that the rains will come as the Lord sees fit to send them!

This Monday morning there is trash blowing in the wind as animals have gotten into a couple of trash cans that we passed by. It is so very important to maintain good trash cans with well-fitting lids to discourage any animals from helping themselves to what they consider the delicacies in the cans. Whether it is dogs, cats or wild animals, trash presents itself as fast food to animals so it is necessary to put bags of garbage into cans that are not so easily gotten into by our four-legged friends. Bracken County's Solid Waste Ordinance No. 87-002 went into effect on November 23, 1987, and contains the definitions of and requirements for solid waste storage containers in Section 2.

A brief synopsis of Section 2.1 on Storage Containers Required states that the occupant of every dwelling unit, including businesses, has to have a sufficient and adequate container for storage of all solid waste and to keep the containers in good repair. Section 2.2 contains information on Solid Waste to be Stored in a Manner Prescribed by Ordinance and basically says that the containers and the area surrounding them has to be kept in a clean, neat and sanitary condition at all times so that rodents and vermin are not attracted to the area and that there is no fire hazard created. Section 2.3 on Standards for Residential Storage Containers states that the containers should hold a minimum of ten gallons of trash, but not more than 35 gallons, be leak proof, waterproof, and fitted with a fly-tight lid that remains closed except when depositing or removing trash. When full, these cans should not weigh more than 75 pounds and suggested containers that do not become brittle in cold weather are made of galvanized metal, rubber, fiberglass or plastic. Of course, the ordinance has a lot more information, but this gives you a peek into this law established in 1987.

Since we have been working on the 5-Year Update of the Area Solid Waste Management Plan for Bracken County, we have had to refer to Ordinance No. 87-002 and other related ordinances to complete this required document for delivery to Frankfort by October 1. The completed rough draft is in the hands of the Solid Waste Advisory Committee whom we will meet with for finalization in a couple of weeks. The plan will be available for public viewing at Judge Bush's office from tentatively July 26 to August 24. Fiscal Court then reviews the plan and has to pass a Resolution to Adopt the Area Solid Waste Management Plan 2013-2017 Update, the package goes to Frankfort for approval and then we are set for another five years! An important part of our update is continuing encouragement to everyone to RECYCLE, REUSE and REDUCE to keep God's earth clean, green and beautiful! Be seein' you

Meldahl Dam project on track

Several tours have recently been given of the new Hydroelectric Plant construction site at the Meldahl Dam near Foster on Highway 8. In speaking with Bracken County Judge Executive Earl Bush, he says the project is on track. And while the hot weather is complicating pouring of the concrete, officials are still looking to start the units up in 2014. Currently the project employs 400 plus people in three shifts. The turbine parts are already beginning to arrive at the site. Once completed, water will pass through the three large round turbines located in the center of the picture above.

The Bracken County 4-H Horse Bowl Team has finished another year of competition. This year was busier than most with four competitions and one clinic. We attended the first judging clinic in this part of the state on March 10th. There we learned how to judge different horse types, different disciplines, and how to prepare oral reasons.

Our first competition was a grooming contest at the Kentucky Horse Park on March 31. There our team and friends got to take a written test on horses and grooming tools. Then they were tested on proper grooming of a horse. The junior team groomed Dodger, while the senior team groomed the mustang Rex. The senior team placed first.

The second competition we attended was the State Horse Judging contest on June 6th at Frankfort. We had three members of our team attend with Georganna placing 9th and Maria placing 8th.

The third competition was the State Horse Bowl Competition on June 14th in Lexington. Horse Bowl is an academic competition where teams use buzzers to try to answer questions about horses. Our junior team of all first-year-competitors tied in their second game but lost in overtime. The senior team placed 3rd in senior horse bowl. Emily placed 1st as an individual.

The next day was our fourth competition. Hippology (the study of the horse) has four different phases. The first phase is judging. We watched slides of different horses and disciplines. Then we placed them. Sandra got 4th place in the junior group. Our second phase was slides. They would show us a picture and we would identify what they were showing us. (Anything from tack to parasites.) Our third phase was the written test. On the junior team Zach had good scores. However, he didn't make it into the placing. The written test was a 100 question multiple choice test. Emily placed 1st, Matthew placed 3rd, and Maria placed 6th. The team together placed 1st. The fourth phase was stations. Stations is where the staff took us, 10 at a time, into a room with 10 stations. Every station had 10 images that we matched with their names. Some of the stations were bits, face and leg markings, parts of saddles, and behavior. We had two minutes at each station before time was up. Emily placed 3rd. Maria placed 2nd. The team got 2nd. On the overall Hippology placing Maria got 7th and Emily got 1st. Overall the team got 2nd. Two members of our senior team were invited to Southern Regionals in Georgia.

Nitrate Poisoning in Livestock

Dr. Ray Smith, Dr. Jeff Lehmkuhler, Cynthia Gaskill, and Dr. Michelle Arnold, University of Kentucky

Due to the extreme drought conditions throughout the Commonwealth of Kentucky, it is important to be aware of nitrate poisoning that may occur as a consequence of nitrate accumulation in certain forages. Nitrate concentrations tend to be higher at the base of the plants, and higher in the stalks than the leaves. Grains, seeds and leaves do not accumulate significant nitrate levels. Plants with high stem-to-leaf ratios are the most likely to cause nitrate intoxication.

Nitrate and nitrite poisoning may be considered as one entity. When nitrates are ingested, they are reduced to nitrites in the rumen before being absorbed from the digestive tract as microbial proteins. Nitrate poisoning in ruminants may occur as a result of consumption of nitrate fertilizer or forage with a high nitrate content. Cattle with access to nitrate fertilizers, especially when deprived of salt, may consume toxic quantities. Cattle consuming plants containing excessive amounts of nitrates cannot convert the nitrates to protein quickly enough without accumulation of nitrite. It is the rapid formation and absorption of large quantities of nitrite that causes poisoning.

Few plants normally contain high nitrate levels. Under normal growing conditions, roots of forage plants absorb nitrate from the soil. Shoot tissues then convert nitrate into plant protein. Under certain conditions, such as high nitrate fertilization, drought, or sudden weather changes, plants can develop potentially dangerous nitrate levels.

Highest levels of nitrate tend to be found in the stems where nitrate reduction normally occurs, and not in the leaves. Ensiled forage crops high in nitrates may have the nitrate content reduced by up to 60% with proper fermentation. There is little reduction of nitrate in dried hay. Common crops in Kentucky that may accumulate nitrates include corn, wheat, sudangrass, rye, millet, alfalfa, soybeans, and oats. Common weeds that are nitrate accumulators include ragweed, pigweed, thistle, bindweed, jimsonweed, and johnsongrass. These are not complete lists but these forages cause the most problems within the state.

Nitrates in water sources may also poison livestock. Surface water or water from shallow wells may contain nitrates, especially if there is run-off from fertilized land contaminating the water. Both water and forage should be analyzed to ensure that total nitrate does not exceed toxic levels.

Cause: Nitrates, when consumed more rapidly than they can be converted to protein, enter the bloodstream as nitrite. The absorbed nitrites combine with hemoglobin of red blood cells to produce methemoglobin, a form incapable of transporting oxygen. Death occurs as methemoglobin levels approach 80%.

Signs: The first sign of nitrate poisoning is usually the sudden death of one or more animals. Oxygen deprivation (asphyxiation) results from the tying-up of hemoglobin. Signs include rapid, labored breathing; rapid, weak heart beat; staggering; muscle tremors; and recumbency (downer animal). Affected animals typically show signs of poisoning within 6-8 hours after consumption of a toxic dose of nitrates. Examination of the mucous membranes, especially the vaginal mucous membranes, may reveal a brownish discoloration that occurs well before other clinical signs. Venous blood also has a chocolate brown discoloration. Death can occur within 2-10 hours depending on the quantity and rate of absorption of nitrite and the amount of stress or forced exercise the animal is subjected to. Pregnant cows may abort following recovery from nitrate poisoning.

Prevention: Nitrate fertilizer should be stored where cattle do not have access to it and accidental spills should be cleaned up promptly. Avoid grazing warm season grasses fertilized with high amounts of nitrogen when growth ceases due to drought or cold damage. Corn should be properly ensiled at least 3 weeks and tested for nitrates before feeding. Do not green chop forages suspected to be high in nitrates. Cool season grasses and small grain pastures that have been heavily fertilized with nitrogen may be high in nitrates during early spring when cool, overcast days retard growth. All suspected forages should be tested for nitrate levels. Consult your County Extension Agent for Agriculture for information concerning sampling, sample preparation and location of a testing laboratory. Forage with high nitrate levels can be mixed with forage known to be low in nitrate to reduce the risk from feeding. Feeding low nitrate forage or hay before turning cattle on to high nitrate forages will reduce the amount of nitrate consumed. Cattle have the ability to increase their tolerance to nitrates in their diet with time. To aid in increasing this tolerance, the diet should be sufficient in vitamin A and the trace minerals normally contained in trace mineral mix. A gradual increase in the total energy content of the ration enhances metabolism in the rumen and helps cattle tolerate higher nitrate levels in their diet.

Treatment: Animals showing signs of nitrate poisoning should be removed from the source of toxicity and a veterinarian should be contacted immediately. Administration of a 2% solution of methylene blue intravenously by the veterinarian will aid in converting methemoglobin back to hemoglobin. Mineral oil or other emollients may be given to protect the lining of the digestive tract. Vinegar given orally via stomach tube will help prevent nitrate reduction in the rumen.

Sports in Kentucky

by Bob Watkins

Baseball, basketball and a King ... must be July in the Bluegrass

Touch ‘em all.
Hottest buzz around baseball at midsummer break? Big market teams Phillies and Red Sox are all but dead.

The NL’s leading candidate for a Cy Young has a fastball that clocks somewhere around the President’s approval numbers, 48. But oh my, can R.A. Dickey butterfly hitters with his knuckleball.

Baseball’s best surprise is in Pittsburgh. Leading Cincinnati by a game and St. Louis by two-and-a-half in the NL Central, the Pirates are 11 games over .500 at mid-summer for first time since you were young, handsome and had lots of hair.

Hope for Pirate fans? This morsel of history – In October 1991, the World Series teams were Minnesota and Atlanta, Both had finished dead last the season before.

BASKETBALL?

Beyond meat market camps, no hoops in July, right? Wrong.

The London Olympics are three weeks away and that USA basketball coach Mike Krzyzewski finalized his 12-man team roster Saturday without college player of the year Anthony Davis, is at least puzzling.

Coach K’s credentials and success are impeccable, but leaving a shot block and rebounder and team-first man off the roster that includes egos the size of Charles Barkley’s rear-end, will merit a close watch on what happens in London.

KELLY COLEMAN ... KING AGAIN

Kentucky basketball legend Kelly Coleman gets another curtain call this Saturday.

Arguably the finest high school player in the Commonwealth’s rich history, certainly so east of I-75, the King will be first among the first 16 inductees to the newly formed Kentucky High School Basketball Hall of Fame this weekend in Elizabethtown.

Honorees to be celebrated at a banquet in the city’s community center include Geri Grigsby, Clemette Haskins, Wah Wah Jones, Cliff Hagan, Clem Haskins, Wes Unseld, Jim McDaniels, Darrell Griffith, Rex Chapman, Richie Farmer, coaches Roy Bowling and Bob Keith. Inducted posthumously: Ralph Beard and coaches S.T. Roach and Ralph Carlisle.

Quite a class.

Sidebar? Has to be King Kelly. He gets his day ... again.

He already has a plaque alongside Muhammad Ali, Paul Hornung, Steve Cauthen, Wes Unseld, PeeWee Reese, John Unitas and a host of other Kentucky sports legends in the prestigious Kentucky Athletic Hall of Fame in Louisville.

The honor this week is another thumb in the eye for the KHSAA. When the governing body introduced its inaugural class to the Dawahare’s High School Sports Hall of Fame in 1988 the class of 26 included best of the best – minus one. Kelly Coleman.

Inexplicably, the KHSAA’s selection committee left off the pride of Wayland High School Wasps and the KHSAA’s first officially recognized Mr. Basketball in 1956.

Coleman earned his nickname but added enormously to state lore beyond borders of his home state. He had shattered or re-set scoring and rebound records from Wayland all the way to the Sweet 16. Some still stand, including crown jewel 4,337 points. A record not threatened in 56 years.

Justifiably wounded by being left off the first class list, the King vowed to never accept induction to the KHSAA Hall. The snub did more. It damaged KHSAA’s selection process credibility and earned it the ‘its all politics.’ label.

Ironies...

• Seven inductees to the KHSBHF Hall joining Coleman in E’town were included in the KHSAA’s first class in 1988.

• As all HOFs are destined to do, the E’town-based basketball hall of fame will inherit legitimate questions about its selectors and processes from critics of its own.

✓ Left off its inaugural class: 1948 Brewers High School, only unbeaten team in Kentucky history, 36 straight wins and the state title.

✓ The prince of Cuba and 1952 Cubs and Murray State legend Howard Crittenden.

✓ College basketball Hall of Famer and NBA’s first Sixth Man, Frank Ramsey left out while teammate and fellow Hall of Famer Cliff Hagan goes in.

How will the KHSBHF avoid oversights and slights made by KHSAA? Executive director Rich Whorley declined to answer the question.

GEM GYMS in print

The book is Legacies of Kentucky Mountain Basketball. Photographed published by Harold Kelley of Glasgow its central theme is photographs of several long since closed small basketball gyms in eastern Kentucky.

Ones written about in this space as Gem Gyms.

Kelley said in an e-mail last week, “... (I) hope that folks who remember the glory days of high school basketball in Kentucky when the southeastern Kentucky mountain schools ruled the roost might be interested.”

Kelley’s book features more than 130 photos of gyms, schools, “(and) a few of the towns,” and includes season summaries for 1953-54, 1954-55, and 1955-56 for Regions 13, 14, and 15.”

WORTH REPEATING

Michael Kidd-Gilchrist officially signed a contract with Charlotte last week. A columnist in the city’s newspaper wrote about the impact the popular ex-Kentucky star could have on the Hornets: “... it wasn’t as if (the Hornets) quit. But they lacked a leader. Kidd-Gilchrist will be that leader. Yes, he will put up jump shots that entice innocent children to hide behind their parents. But if you watched him help push his Wildcats to the NCAA championship last season you can’t fathom him allowing his team to go quietly.”

Interesting prose. But “entice innocent children to hide behind their parents.”?

PARTING SHOT

Calling it a taboo subject, former Olympics 200 and 400 meter champion Michael Johnson weighed in anyway, his opinion on rising dominance by “Afro-Caribbean and Afro-American in athletics.”

“It’s impossible to think that being descended from slaves hasn’t left an imprint through the generations. ... I believe there is a superior gene in us.”

History repeats itself. Johnson’s remarks last week caused not a ripple with media nor condemnation from civil rights leaders is peculiar.

Those of us old enough to remember January 17, 1988 know it was a day when Jimmy ‘The Greek’ Snyder, after apologizing profusely, was fired by CBS Sports for making virtually the same observations.

Jimmy The Greek died eight years later. Friends said cause of death was a broken heart.

And so it goes.

Street Lighting Service - Rate ST. LT.

Private Outdoor Lighting - Rate P. O. LT.

Street Lighting Service (Rate ST.LT. – Sheet No. 35) and Private Outdoor Lighting Service (Rate P.O.LT. – Sheet No. 36) are being reorganized into two rate schedules. The first schedule will be named Lighting Services (Rate LS) and will be a consolidation of lighting fixtures currently offered. The second schedule will be named Restricted Lighting Service (Rate RLS) and will be a consolidation of lighting fixtures that are in service but no longer available for new or replacement installations. The current and proposed rates are presented below based on the lights to be included in Rate LS and Rate RLS. The lights proposed to be contained in the specific schedule are shown in bold type with the current light and rate sheet shown below the proposed light.

Former Powersville tavern and home dismantled for move

This 1800's two story log structure was originally a tavern owned and operated by Cassum Morford. According to a history of Powersville compiled by Rosemary Lawson, the tavern became a favorite stop over for wagoners traveling from Augusta to Cynthiana carrying freight. In later years it bore a sign reading "Boarding House". In 1919, Cassum Morford's son, Nimrod Morford, bought his brother's share of the property. After that, it served as a toll house for the KY 10 and 19 junction. In the 1950's the structure served as a private home for G.T. and Betty Cummins and Martin and Sylvia Teegarden from the late 1970's. In 1988 it became the home of Robert and Mary Cannon while he served as pastor of the Powersville Christian Church. Upon his leaving, the property was sold to the Powersville Christian Church.

The structure was recently dismantled and the logs sold for use in a private home in Pendleton County.

Tara Tellman returns from archeological dig in Jordan

Tara Tellman recently returned from the trip of a lifetime to Amman, Jordan. The Kentucky Christian University Sophomore, majoring in Advanced Biblical Studies, made the trip with her Pentatuech Class Professor through a partnership with Andrews University in Michigan. They traveled from Chicago's O'Hare airport with a lay-over in Frankfurt, Germany to Amman. The group went for a three week archeological dig at Tall Jalul to help unearth the biblical city of Heshbon. During their visit from May 17th to June 8th, Jordan had a dry heat without humidity, they would still arise at 4 a.m. to leave by 5 a.m. Mondays through Friday so they could dig while it was breezy and cool. After 12:30, they would return to their hotel, shower, eat, and begin the washing of any pottery shards they had unearthed. When they returned to the dig site the following day, workers would begin the process of dating the pottery. Digging at Tall Jalul has been going on for the last 20 years. While there, her roommate was able to help uncover a continuation of a wall of the largest water reservoir in Jordan.

While in Jordan, they stayed at the Mariam Hotel in Madaba and did a lot of sight seeing during the evening hours and on weekends. The hotel is owned by a Christian family that has a long history with the area. As most of Jordan is fairly modernized and English is taught in their schools, the group encountered very little of a language barrier. Although, when the Jordanian people interacted with each other, the group was hindered by not knowing the language.

One of Tara's favorite places was Petra. She was able to stand where the Treasury was filmed in the Indiana Jones movie. They enjoyed hiking around Petra for 12 hours, and riding donkeys and camels.

When most people heard the group was traveling to a Muslim country, thoughts of 911 and terrorists were brought to mind. The group was refreshed to see Muslims and Christians interacting in a positive way. They were quite awe struck with the beauty of the Call to Prayer that was issued from Call Towers in the Mosque.

Five times during the day, they heard beautifully sung prayers and consider it an incredible experience. They were able to stand on Mt. Nebo, the site where Moses gave his last hurrah as he was not permitted to enter the Promised Land. As she stood where God buried Moses and could see the Dead Sea, the Jordan River and beyond into Israel, it brought a fresh perspective to the scripture and brought it all to life.

To hear more about Tara's trip, the public is invited to her presentation at the Fairview Christian Church on Sunday, July 22nd at 6:30 p.m. Tara is the daughter of Matt and Tonja Tellman of Brooksville.
